Federal Coast Quarantine Is Demanded.

The advantages of a federal coast quarantine are, The Journal is glad to note, being urged by the press all over the country.

The argument in favor of such a system was stated at some length by The Journal a week ago, since which time we have noted a great deal of comment to similar effect in a large number of the most representative newspapers. Speaking on the same subject the Birmingham Age-Herald says:

The remedy consists in placing the quarantine stations under federal control. This has been done all along the South Atlantic coast—in North Carolina, Georgia and Florida. For commercial reasons—Alabama, Louisiana and Texas have refused to do away with state or municipal control.

If federal management of the quarantine stations on the gulf coast were conceded, there would be no more yellow fever in this country. A case or two might creep in, but all physicians now know how to handle the sporadic case. It is necessary to keep off by netting the mosquito, which alone can transmit the germs of disease. But while a commercial quarantine lasts forty blocks become infected before confession is made of the presence in this country of the fever. The choice is between federal quarantines and New Orleans should not hesitate to adopt the former. The safety and prosperity of the southern country, and therefore of New Orleans, demands federal supervision of gulf coast quarantine stations.

One of the chief arguments advanced by The Journal for a change from local to federal control of our quarantine was the well known fact that, under local control, the commercial interests and commercial cupidity of the various ports lead them to take chances which would not be permitted under a federal system. The Jacksonville Times-Union makes the same point in the following well expressed comment:

According to all accounts, the people of that city "are satisfied that the fever was introduced by fruit ships," and we regret to say that there can be little doubt that the anxiety of a certain class of merchants in the Crescent City to capture without the proper restrictions the fruit trade of the South must be held responsible for the visitation that now threatens the entire Gulf coast west of Pensacola. Were New Orleans and its people to be the only sufferers from this ill-advised course, there would be nothing further to say. But New Orleans is not paying the penalty of its criminal cupidity alone—the bill of costs is even now being saddled upon the entire South, whose people are naturally and reasonably alarmed at the appearance of yellow fever at the leading Gulf port. And who are, therefore, justified in entering a vigorous protest against that pagan and un-Christian spirit of unenlightened selfishness which for the sake of a paltry pecuniary advantage wantonly puts the welfare and prosperity of a wide section in jeopardy.

It is quite time that the entire country should now join in a demand for a change. A federal system is the only one under which uniform fairness to the Gulf states can be assured and protection to the country can be made possible.

The Journal hopes that the city council will soon take up the matter of a building inspection ordinance. With the exception of the small territory within the fire limits, there is no record whatever of the kind, quality, or number of buildings erected, and there should be such a record.

There are more people staying at home in Pensacola this summer than in any previous year—and this notwithstanding the yellow fever in New Orleans. It is quite evident that the old-time yellow fever panic is a thing altogether of the past, gone never to return.

Hon. W. J. Hillman, of Live Oak, Fla., one of the wealthiest and most enterprising citizens of his state, is the guest of friends in Atlanta. Mr. Hillman is being prominently spoken of in connection with the governorship of Florida, and prominent men of the state believe that his election is assured.—Atlanta Constitution.

Inasmuch as it is yet about three years before the primaries will be held, Mr. Hillman will really have nothing to lose by beginning his campaign in Georgia at this time. It's a funny place, however, in which to be running for governor of Florida.

Colonel Mann, of Town Topics, threatens to sue Collier's Weekly for libel because the latter characterized the colonel's standing as "somewhat worse than that of an ordinary forger, horse-thief, or second-story man." Collier's now replies by inviting the editor of the malicious Town Topics to come on with his suit, but it nevertheless expresses the conviction that Colonel Mann will hardly brave the light of publicity by going into court with the case.

Hon. Jefferson D. Stephens, of Jackson county, has formally announced his candidacy for congress from this district against the present incumbent, Hon. W. B. Lamar. He may win out, but if he does he can say that he is a campaigner from way back.—DeFuniak Breeze.

The Breeze certainly does not mean to intimate that Jackson county is "way back." That county is where Mr. Stephens comes from.

The Birmingham Ledger thinks that if it pays the states of the great northwest—and it undoubtedly does—tens of thousands of dollars every year to advertise their great resources and thereby gain new settlers and new industries, it would pay the states of the south to do the same thing. The Ledger is eminently correct.

The Tampa Times shows a wonderful improvement since its new press was installed. It requires modern equipment to get out a modern newspaper, and the Times will find its new equipment the best paying investment it ever made.

Current Comment From Mr Bryan's Commoner

Concerning yellow fever, it is better to perfect the sanitation before than after.

When the people control the primaries the corporations cannot control the elections.

Up to date Secretary Taft has made no effort to keep down the lid of the Japanese tea urn.

The Dewey Improvement Company seems to have failed to get in its work on its promoters.

It takes something more than indentments to keep the price of meat within reasonable bounds.

It seems that those peace commissioners will find it easy to take their way to a mutual understanding.

The democratic party shows gratifying indications of a determination to get democratic and stay democratic this time.

The trouble with the Equitable is it seems to have altogether too many "receivers" at the wrong end of the premium route.

However, we have yet to hear of the big express companies complaining that Uncle Tom Platt's public life has been a failure.

Governor Pennypacker wants to sell his library of 15,000 volumes, but this must not be taken that he knows all there is in the books.

There might be more effort to obliterate graft in the government departments were it possible for its discoverers to forget the fate of Mr. Bowen.

When we come to think it over, are the graft exposures that are astonishing the people any worse than the democracy has been stating it since 1896?

The girl removed to make graves for fever victims in the canal zone continues to keep several thousand cubic feet ahead of the dirt removed from the canal.

T. Suffern Taylor of Newport gave James Hazen Hyde a dinner recently. That is cheering news. The suffering public have been feeding him long enough.

It will be too bad if Japan becomes seized of the notion that the soldiers of Russia are a type of white-skinned soldiers of the whole world—too bad for Japan.

By holding up the June bills until July—June being the last month of the fiscal year—Secretary Shaw managed to hold the annual deficit down to $24,000,000, according to the books. But book-keepers of that kind often find themselves called up on the carpet.

Some of the "fads" of those society people seem not to have struck the "fancy" of the people who foot the bills.

It is given out from Washington that hereafter diplomats must avoid even the semblance of scandal. Can it be possible that the supply of white-wash is running short?

Missouri has her Folk, Wisconsin her LaFollette, Philadelphia her Weaver—and the growth in the Pattison sentiment indicates that Ohio intends to profit by their example.

After one week of strenuous life in the cabinet Mr. Root is off for a month's vacation. The sacrifices some people have to make in order to serve their country are very touching.

The Milwaukee Sentinel wants Mr. Dewey to explain how he earned that $20,000 retainer from the Equitable. Is the Sentinel joking, or does it expect Mr. Dewey to perform the impossible?

In the meanwhile Mr. Thomas F. Ryan is letting his appointees do all the talking about reforming the management of the Equitable, while he is merely owning and controlling the Equitable.

What does it matter whether there are genuine bones of the genuine John Paul Jones? Even if they are not genuine no one has heard either John or the real owner kick about the honors paid them.

Mr. A. Sato, it must be admitted, is making an excellent buffer between Baron Komura and the ubiquitous reporters. The American newspaper that secures the services of Mr. Sato will have a star.

The mere fact that Japan alone knew what she could do against Russia is evidence enough that Japan is not at all inclined to buy any Philippine gold bricks.

The fact that you have a horse to sell is a secret, shared by yourself and a few friends perhaps, until you have advertised it in the classified columns—then the people who want to buy horses are "put wise."

CARRABELLE

Special to The Journal.

Carrabelle, Aug. 12.—The steamer Sego sank at the railroad wharf Friday morning at 5 o'clock. There was no one on board. Capt. Ira Sanborn lost a lot of valuable papers and furniture. The steamer will be raised in a few days and the captain thinks the damage will be about $300.00.

The health of Carrabelle was never better than it is now. The city authorities have the town in excellent sanitary condition.

The Gulf Trading Co. is doing good business in fish.

The F. C. Lbr. Co. mill is now shut down for want of logs, which makes things a little quiet.

We eagerly look for The Journal every day at 4 o'clock to learn the news of West Florida and the news of the world also.

BLOUNTSTOWN

Special to The Journal.

Blountstown, Aug. 12.—A fatal shooting affray occurred at Cocoon, a turpentine farm a few miles south of Blountstown, yesterday, when Frank Hart shot and instantly killed Will Hammonds. Both are colored. Jealousy was the cause of the difficulty.

As we understand the matter this was a case of murder unprovoked and cold-blooded. The murderer is still at large.

Travel is very good now. Capt. Jno. Halley can hardly supply the great demand for livery teams and he has quite a herd of horses.

Hon. S. W. Clark is placing lumber and building material on the corner of McClellan St. and Gaskin Ave. for the purpose of erecting a large warehouse.

Several new houses are now under construction and others are contracted for.

J. I. Heintz of the firm of Gaskins & Heintz, bankers and brokers, has about completed a new dwelling on New Street.

The high school building is nearly completed. Grayson & Parrish, the contractors, have done good work on the building.

A new building is now looming up near Masonic Hall, but we are not informed as to what purpose it will be devoted or how many stories high it will be.

Hon. H. B. Gaskin, our bustling banker, has about completed a large building to be used for offices and a store.

Dr. Rhoden reports Mr. John Davis, who was accidentally shot by Mr. W. Kent, last Wednesday, doing well and strong hopes of his recovery are entertained.

Epworth League Social. The Epworth League held their regular Friday night social at the pleasant home of Mr. T. A. Yon, and his sister, Miss Edna. Those present were Misses Edna Yon, Mary McClellan, Edith Fannin, Florence McClellan, Callie Russ, and Jessie Taylor; Messrs. Tom Yon, Hugh Taylor, Tim
